UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND

A trip across College Park reveals a university which has changed markedly in the 1990s. Almost a half-billion dollars worth of construction has recently taken place or is ongoing. A campus already known for its beauty is getting better. Academically, College Park's peers are the best public universities in America. College Park is surrounded by opportunities in sports and the arts, by chances to visit mountains or shore. It's a good location.

1997 NCAA® DIVISION I MEN'S SOCCER CHAMPIONSHIP
RICHMOND, VIRGINIA

1997 PREVIEW

Senior Leo Cullen is a top candidate for National Player of the Year honors in 1997.

The 1997 Maryland men's soccer roster has one very dominating characteristic - experience.

It all begins with Sasho Cirovski, who is entering his fifth season as the team's head coach, and culminates with 13 returning letterwinners, 10 of whom are upperclassmen. In fact, the seniors on this season's team have managed a three-year record of 41-18-6, and have appeared in three consecutive NCAA Championships. They were key contributors last season when Maryland made its run towards the Atlantic Coast Conference championship which ended with the Terps' 2-0 win over No. 1-ranked Virginia in Charlottesville.

"This is the most talented and experienced group of players we have returned since I have been here," said Cirovski confidently. "This is the most determined group we have had. They are extremely focused. No one liked the way the season ended last year (the 3-0 loss to William & Mary in the NCAA Second Round). It was a heartbreaking and devastating loss," he continued.

Two-time All-ACC selection, and a 1997 Player of the Year candidate, Leo Cullen, headlines the 1997 edition of the Maryland soccer team. The senior from Burnsville, Minn., is the glue of the Terrapin defense, and enters his senior season as one of the most remarkable defenders in Maryland men's soccer history. Cullen earned Soccer America First Team All-America honors, and was a NSCAA Second Team All-American in 1996. Cullen's defensive skills make him one of the most feared players in the country, and his leadership skills are a model for the Terrapin squad. "Leo Cullen will not only be the best player in the country, but could be the best leader we have had here during my tenure," said Cirovski proudly.

Seniors Joe Marshburn and R.T. Moore compliment Cullen well in the backfield. Moore, one of the most underrated defenders at the national level, has started and played in every game since his freshman year. Moore is a deceptively strong defensive leader and ball winner, and his steady ball-winning skills will give the Terrapins an effective transition game into the offensive end of the field. Marshburn also returns as an anchor of the Maryland defensive unit. He plays with the aggressiveness and the intensity that Cirovski demands of his defensemen.

Senior Mike McIlwain is a strong, quick shooter who can score from any angle. As a junior, McIlwain played in 20 games, getting the starting nod in five, and scored three goals and added three assists. McIlwain will provide strong senior leadership to the midfield and forward position.

"This entire senior class knows nothing but NCAA Championships...they have been to three Sweet Sixteens, and none of them will be satisfied with anything but a Final Four appearance, and a chance to win the National Championship," said Cirovski.

Undoubtedly, the junior class is the most talent-laden group of athletes on this year's squad. Steve Armas, Keith Beach, Judah Cooks, Pierre Venditti, Randy Merkel and Kevin Walsh combined to score 60 of Maryland's 169 points last season.

Beach, a Second Team All-ACC selection in 1996, scored three goals and had a team-high 11 assists, and returns as the Terps' top scorer. He tied an ACC Tournament record after scoring five assists in the Terps' three tournament games. Beach joins Armas in the midfield to form one of the most lethal attack combinations in the country.

The 5-8 Armas is considered one of the Terps' most valuable offensive weapons, and returns to the starting lineup for the third consecutive season. Armas' last-minute goal against James Madison lifted the Terps to a 2-1 victory over the Dukes in the first round of the NCAA Tournament.

Cooks has all of the tools and determination to be one of the top midfielders in the country, and has emerged as one of the top defensive midfielders as well. The 6-0 Maryland native can attack and score from anywhere on the field, and can be doubly powerful, playing at both the midfield and forward positions. Cooks' four goals last season was fourth-best on the Terp squad.

Merkel, a relative newcomer to the Maryland campus, is one of the most athletic wide midfielders on the team. A transfer from Penn State, Merkel totaled two goals and added four assists in his first year in a Maryland uniform. He will be counted on to shoot and score more in 1997. Merkel can also fill in at goalie where, during spring ball, he recorded a shutout against the defending national champion, St. John's.

Venditti returns as the third leading scorer on the squad. The 1996 ACC Tournament MVP will continue to share the scoring load this season. Venditti is a multi-talented player who utilizes his speed to beat opponents with or without the ball. Venditti ended the '96 campaign strong, scoring in each one of the Terps' ACC Tournament games, including the game-winning goal in Maryland's 2-0 win over then-No. 1-ranked Virginia to give the Terps their first-ever ACC Championship.

Pierre Venditti earned ACC Tournament MVP honors in 1996 after leading the Terps to their first ACC title since 1971.

Jason Cropley, Jaime Eichmann and Andy Kirk complete the list of the 13 returning letterwinners. These four sophomores each bring a wealth of experience to the squad.

Cropley, a California native, is the Terps' second leading returning scorer from a year ago. His eight goals was second on the team behind departing senior Shane Dougherty's 15. He has quickly established himself as one of the top up-and-coming collegiate players in the country. He, too, is an extremely versatile athlete who can play both the wide midfield and forward positions.

Eichmann enjoyed a fine spring season where he got the starting nod against St. John's. He appeared in 14 games last year, scoring one goal against Hofstra. He possesses great technical skills, vision and solid footwork.

Kirk returns for his sophomore season after earning the starting goalkeeper position for the U.S. Under-20 National Team that played at the FIFA World Youth Championships in Malaysia this past summer. Kirk enters this season after a year of solid experience playing behind departed senior and four-year starter Russell Payne. He possesses tremendous poise with an explosive first step, and will become one of the most exciting and talented goalkeepers in the country. Kirk appeared in four games last year, recording 16 saves and allowing four goals. He posted 3.5 shutouts in his four appearances which made him one of the leaders in the ACC.

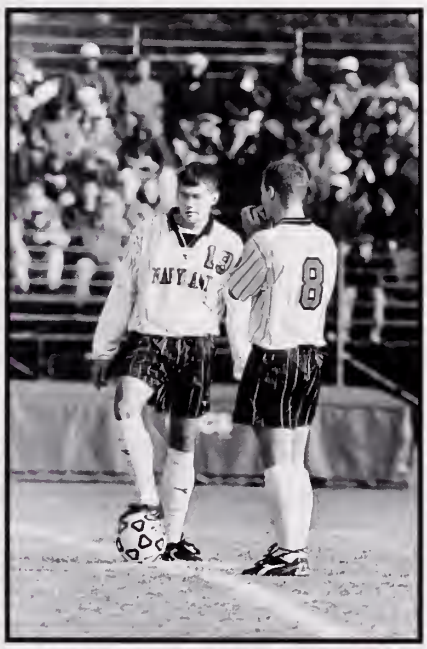
R.T. Moore has started and played in every game since his freshman year.

In addition to the returnees, Cirovski will count heavily on nine newcomers to add depth, punch and defense to the Terrapin efforts. "It is a solid, large class. We have several players who will emerge as top collegiate players," said Cirovski. We have the depth this year that we haven't always had, and we have a lot of young players coming in who were not recruited by a lot of people, but wanted to come here for the challenge."

Transfer Adam McMahon (Illinois Benedictine College) will bring some immediate experience. McMahon, an athletic and sound technical player, has the ability to direct the defense.

Freshman Rob Birch should fit easily into the Terrapin style of play, and will add a finishing dimension from the midfield and striker positions. Birch demonstrated his offensive talents as he led St. John's the Baptist to the New York State high school championship in 1996 and '97. Freshman Josh Kliebe is a strong and athletic midfielder who will be converted to a defender.

Christian Lewis, a 6-0 freshman goalkeeper from Ellicott City, Md., will be a great understudy to returning goalie Andy Kirk. Lewis, who has great hands and vision and distributes the ball well, will push for playing time. Freshman forward Kirk Miller is being called the "Wynalda" of this year's recruiting class. He is skillful with both feet, is good in the air, and possesses a dynamic style of play to go along with a desirable work ethic. Miller has the ability to contribute immediately.



Jason Cropley scored eight goals last season, which was second on the team.

Maryland native Brian Otten will see playing time at the defensive midfield position or anywhere in the back. Otten, a veteran of the Maryland ODP state teams, will solidfy Maryland's ball possession scheme. Freshman Greg Ramos, a 5-9 midfielder from Bethlehem, Pa., is a skillful left-footer who has the versatility to play at either the midfield or the back position.

Two-time First Team NSCAA High School All-American Jason Sardis possesses a great knack for scoring, and his hard work will add depth to the Maryland forward position. He will challenge for a starting position and have an immediate impact on the success of this year's team. Freshman Mike Shebuski is a tenacious defender and a fierce competitor. He is a great passer who distributes the ball well.

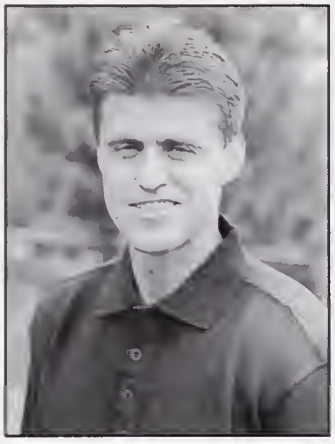
The non-conference schedule may not resemble the preseason Top 20 poll, but it's still loaded with national powers Wisconsin, George Mason and Ohio State. The rematch with Virginia is on Saturday, September 13 in College Park.

"Maryland will be very competitive this year in the ACC. However, with our experience these last two years, it should help get us over the edge in the close, competitive games," Cirovski said.

The 1997 Maryland men's soccer team is loaded with talent and heart which will keep the Terps on track to another great year.

"I knew the way the team treated the loss against William & Mary in the NCAA Tournament last year that we are going to have something special this year," concluded Cirovski.

HEAD COACH SASHO CIROVSKI



You can't tell by looking at him, but Sasho Cirovski is a bit of a thrill-seeker. Evil Knievel he is not. He is more subtle than that. And while Cirovski may not always push the physical envelope, he nevertheless isn't afraid of new challenges.

Four years ago he left the security of a growing and successful program at the University of Hartford to revitalize a once-proud Maryland program. No small task by any measure. Take into account, also, that the Terps had a combined three-year record of 20-29-5, including a 5-12-0 record the year prior to Cirovski's arrival in College Park. After energizing a Hartford team that had not appeared in the New England Region rankings during its first few years at the Division I level, to a first-ever NCAA appearance his first season on board, Cirovski was ready for the huge task that awaited him in Maryland. He had a plan. He always has a plan. He just needed an avenue and the support to implement it.

Now, as the Terrapins begin their fifth season with Cirovski at the helm, Cirovski, a perfectionist in every sense of the word, has perhaps his best team ever in his storied Maryland career.

Sometimes the most complex and effective plans are those which appear to be the simplest. His idea was to first teach the players what the college game is all about. Second, as in years for the program, teach the players what it takes to compete at the national level. Third, make some noise and let the big dogs know you're in town.

Hang around Cirovski's office long enough and you'll quickly understand what makes him tick. Family and soccer. At times it's hard to separate the two. Family is soccer and soccer is family. Pictures are everywhere.

When the decision was made to hire Cirovski, the underlying theme was to do it right. First class from the start.

Cirovski developed an excellent coaching reputation over a three-year period as a Division I assistant at his alma mater, Wisconsin-Milwaukee, from 1988-90. Cirovski learned under the watchful eye of Bob Gansler, the former United States World Cup head coach, and Director of Coaching for the U.S. Soccer Federation. During the spring of 1989, Cirovski served as the interim head coach while Gansler attended to his duties at the 1990 World Cup Championship in Italy. In his final season at Wisconsin-Milwaukee, the made it to the NCAA Tournament for the first time in more than a decade.

From Wisconsin, it was off to Connecticut, where, in only his first year at Hartford, Cirovski guided the Hawks to their first-ever NCAA Tournament appearance, and first-ever North Atlantic Conference championship. Hartford defeated Columbia in the first round of the NCAA Tournament and took Virginia, the eventual NCAA champion, to four overtimes before losing. Cirovski duplicated several of those feats the next season as Hartford won its second consecutive NAC championship and played in the NCAA Tournament for the second consecutive season. Cirovski's first two collegiate seasons were as successful as any in the collegiate ranks. He guided the Hawks to back-to-back 13-6-3 records and became one of only a handful of coaches to take a team to the NCAA Tournament in his first two years as a head coach.

Cirovski 's next venture brought him south to Maryland, where his first Terrapin team recorded a 3-14-1 season.

Ahh, but remember the plan. In only four short seasons, Cirovski has directed the lightning-fast return of Maryland soccer to the national spotlight. The 3-14-1 record his first season has been long forgotten, and Maryland's three consecutive trips to the NCAA Tournament, and its newest edition to its trophy case, the 1996 Atlantic Coast Conference championship trophy, are fresh in Maryland fans' minds.

In his second season at Maryland, Cirovski led the Terps to the second round of the NCAA Tournament, and finished with a 14-6-1 record. A 4-3 first-round NCAA win over Georgetown was the first for the program since 1969, and was the first time since 1986 that the Terps had made an appearance in the Tournament.

The Terps' improvement from 3-14-1 during Cirovski's first year to a 14-6-1 record in 1994, marks the greatest single-season turnaround in the 43-year history of the Atlantic Coast Conference.

In 1995, the Terps finished with a 13-6-2 record, and again advanced to the second round of the NCAA Tournament. They finished second in the ACC with a 4-1-1 record, and ended the year ranked as high as No. 15 by Soccer America.

A No. 4 preseason ranking in 1996 had spirits high around the Maryland campus. And history was made. Cirovski led Maryland to the 1996 ACC Championship, the program's first in history. The Terps marched into Charlottesville, Va., and walked away with three-record setting performances and a shiny engraved trophy declaring them the champs.

The plan must continue according to Cirovski. The job had not been done. The Terps set their sight on the NCAA Tournament where they were looking to make it for the third consecutive season. The Terps avenged an earlier season loss to James Madison, defeating the Dukes, 2-1, in the first round. Maryland was awarded home-field advantage in the second round, and hosted the then-third-ranked William & Mary Tribe. The Terps's season ended on December 1 with a 3-0 loss to the Tribe.

A student of the game, as well, Cirovski spent parts of three seasons as a professional player and coach with teams in the Canadian Soccer League, and the National Professional Soccer League. His first taste of coaching came in 1987 in the Canadian Soccer League.

HEAD COACH SASHO CIROVSKI

Cirovski holds an "A" coaching license for the U.S. Soccer Federation, and an Advanced National Diploma from the National Soccer Coaches Association of America. He served on the staff of the USSF Region II (Midwest) Olympic Development Program, and since 1992 has been a member of the Region I (East) ODP coaching staff. Most recently, Cirovski served as the assistant coach on the JVC U-17 World Youth Championship team which played against Argentina, Uruguay, Egypt and two domestic camps this past summer. The team will be competing at the U-17 World Cup Championship in Egypt on September 4th through the 21st. He has also worked as an assistant coach for the U.S. U-20 National Team.

The Yugoslavian native grew up in Vratnica, a small village in Macedonia, and his family moved to Ontario, Canada, when he was eight years old.

He was a four-year varsity letterwinner at Wisonsin-Milwaukee, and received his bachelor's degree in 1985, and his master's degree in 1989. He will be inducted into the Wisconsin-Milwaukee Hall of Fame on October 4, the day after his Terrapins play at the University of Wisconsin. He directs the successful Sasho Cirovski Maryland Soccer Camp each summer, which has become one of the most well-attended camps in the Mid-Atlantic region.

Cirovski and his wife, the former Shannon Higgins who played collegiate soccer at the University of North Carolina, is the head women's soccer coach at George Washington University. Shannon also led the Colonials to an NCAA Tournament appearance last season. They have two daughters, three-year old, Hailey, and Karli, who turned one in August.

ASSISTANT COACH JEFF ROHRMAN

Jeff Rohrman

Jeff Rohrman not only understands the game of soccer, a game he loves, but he also understands his boss, head coach Sasho Cirovski. He both mirrors and complements him. Talk about being on the same page. Start a conversation with one of the two and watch in amazement as they finish each other's sentences.

Entering his third season with the Terrapins, Rohrman's duties, in addition to the actual coaching, also encompass that ever-expanding category known as "everything else." Recruiting, travel, practice, paperwork, part-time counselor, team liaison, etc. You name it, he does it, and he absolutley loves doing it.

Rohrman knew he wanted to be a soccer coach. His first taste of coaching came in 1990 when he was appointed head men's coach at Bethany Lutheran College.

A 1986 graduate of the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, Rohrman was the assistant women's soccer coach at the U.S. Naval Academy prior to his coming to Maryland. While at the Naval Academy, he acquired experience in eligibility tracking, community relations, scheduling, advising, and budget management, as well as his on-field coaching duties. Rohrman also served the United States Soccer Federation as its National Team Coordinator. Rohrman also worked as an intern for the U.S. Olympic Committee where he was coordinating the competition for the U-20 National Team.

Rohrman played collegiate soccer for two years at Wisconsin-Milwaukee, and two years at Bethany Lutheran College. He played alongside his boss (Cirovski) in 1984 while at Wisconsin-Milwaukee. While a player there, he earned all-state honors and was named team captain, and voted team MVP following his senior season. He earned All-America status following his sophomore season at Bethany Lutheran.

Rohrman has tasted all flavors of soccer. Not only did he play collegiate soccer, he also played professionally, and even has a little Olympic experience mixed into the batter. He participated in the 1986 Olympic Soccer Festival in Houston, and then went on to play professionally with the Milwaukee Wave of the American Indoor Soccer League in 1986 and 1987. Club ball? Oh yeah, throw that in, as well. In 1989, he was a starter for the Real Santa Barbara Soccer Club of the Western Soccer League.

He earned a bachelor's degree in zoology from Wisconsin-Milwaukee in 1986, and his master's degree in physical education and sports administration from Mankato (Minn.) State in 1991.

He is married to the former Nancy Kramarz.

MARYLAND SOCCER SUPPORT STAFF

John Bowman

There is an insistence in the Maryland men's soccer program that student-athletes get a degree in a career field that will enhance their life after College Park. The insistence is underlined by head coach Sasho Cirovski and his staff, by the athletic administration, and by the Academic Support Unit of the Department of Athletics.

John Bowman is Associate Director of Student Services for Academic Support. He returned to Academic Support in 1995 after spending three years in the Office of Undergraduate Admissions. He had previously been Senior Advisor in Academic Support from 1987 through 1991. He was also an Athletic Advisor in 1986 in the Department of Undergraduate Studies, and a coordinator in the campus' Intensive Education Development Program (1979-1986).

A 1969 graduate of Oberlin, Bowman earned a Master's in education from Case-Western Reserve in 1976.

Barry Kagan

Before the men's soccer team can compete at its finest, the strength and conditioning staff prepares the athletes for game day. Proper training in the offseason leads to top performances by individuals and winning records for the team as a whole. The Terrapins utilize the most innovative equipment in strength training with access to a state-of-the-art weight room.

This new technology ensures that the athletes are in prime condition to enter competition.

Barry Kagan works closely with the men's soccer team to guarantee a successful program. Kagan began working with Maryland athletics over four years ago while still a student in College Park.

He earned a bachelor's degree in Kinesiological Sciences in December of 1995 after completing a thesis in which he compared 40-yard sprint times among female collegiate athletes. Kagan was also a Terrapin cheerleader during his collegiate career.

Q & A WITH LEO CULLEN ...

You were one of the top prospects coming out of high school in 1994. Why did you chose Maryland after it had finished with a record of 3-14-1 the year before? Even after Maryland's 3-14-1 season, it was ostensible to me the program was headed in the right direction. The wonderful coaching staff and terrific core of players attracted me to what has become the most rewarding decision of my life.

What does the Maryland experience mean to you? The Maryland experience has meant devoting ourselves to setting a standard in college soccer that we hope others will choose to follow.

What has been your most memorable Maryland soccer experience? My most memorable experience to date has been the way we (the Maryland team) pulled ourselves together during last year's ACC Championship. With our backs against the wall, we overcame adversity en route to reaching one of our highest goals.

PLAYER OF THE YEAR CANDIDATE LEO CULLEN

What They're Saying About Leo Cullen ...

"Leo Cullen is undoubtedly the best player in the country, and could be the best leader we have had at Maryland during my tenure." -- Sasho Cirovski, Head Coach, University of Maryland

"Leo Cullen is an inspiration to any team because of his work ethic and his professionalism on the field. He reads the game well. Every team needs a Leo Cullen." -- Trevor Adair, Head Coach, Clemson University

"Leo Cullen has been the mainstay of the success that the University of Maryland has enjoyed since his arrival. He is a quiet leader who leads by example. He is very coachable and is always eager to learn more." -- Elmar Bolowich, Head Coach, University of North Carolina

"I have coached the college game and many U.S. "B" teams and Leo Cullen is by far the most technical and tactical player I have seen. He reads the game well and makes great decisions. He has an exceptional future ahead of him. He has the physical and mental capabilities of a three or four-year professional player. When he finishes his collegiate career, he will undoubtedly be the one player who is prepared for the next level, either in the MLS or in Europe. Another unique quality about Leo is the respect he is able to garner from his peers, which is not always easy to do. He is a tremendous individual and we (the World University Games coaching staff and team) are thrilled he is with us." -- John Ellinger, Head Coach, 1997 U.S. Soccer World University Games

"What makes Leo Cullen so good is his love for the game and his intelligence. He is extremely versatile and can play about any position on the field. He is one of the top up-and-coming players in the country." -- Bob Gansler, Head Coach, Milwaukee Rampage (coached Leo on the U-18 U.S. National Team)

"It has been enjoyable watching Leo develop throughout the years. I began coaching him when he was a freshman in high school. He has made an excellent transition from the high school level to the collegiate level. His quickness and his intelligent decisions make him the caliber of player he is today." -- Buzz Lagos, Head Coach, Minnesota Thunder (coached Leo in high school at St. Paul Academy)

A Roller Coaster Season

Determined Terrapins Ride Tough Season And Find Joy in the End

Remember when you were younger and you absolutely loved to go the amusement park and ride the rollercoaster? It was big, fast and full of excitement. It was exhilarating. It was terrifying. It was scary fun. You were a bundle of energy and anticipation as the cars made that first climb to the top. After you reached the pinnacle and looked down, you realized that you were about to lose, at the very least, your ability to appreciate the spectacular view. As the ride progressed, you were treated to some wonderful highs and some stomach-churning lows. Say hello to the Terrapin soccer season in 1996.

Head Coach Sasho Cirovski wanted his team to understand the demands required of a top 20 program. He knew that to be the best you have to play the best.

The ride began with high hopes and expectations as the Terrapins opened the gates of Ludwig Field on August 30, hosting George Mason. The Terps, who carried a No. 4 ranking into the contest, dropped their home opener, 2-1, to an unranked Mason team who scored with 47 seconds left in regulation to break a 1-1 tie. And so, the climb to the top continued. The Terps capitalized on their opening-day loss and handed Seton Hall a 2-0 defeat the following day. And so, the ride to the top continued.

Maryland next hosted its annual Diadora/3 Brothers Tournament, welcoming national-power, Florida International, Georgetown and Hofstra. Maryland and its fans witnessed Florida International score three second-half goals en route to a 4-3 victory over the 10th-ranked Terrapins. "When you lose two games late," said Maryland head coach Sasho Cirovski, alluding to the defense, "it's because of a lack of mental concentration and, to a certain degree, a lack of respect for our opponent -- not thinking they are going to score."

Smarting from yet another home loss to an unranked opponent, the Terps came out firing in their next game -- a 4-0 win over Hofstra to capture second place at the Tournament. The Hofstra victory saw four newcomers, Randy Merkel, Jason Cropley, Jason Bent and Jaime Eichmann, handle all of the scoring, while an old stalwart, senior goalkeeper Russell Payne, came back from a game off to provide all the defense that was needed.

It was early on in the ride. The Terps had a long way to go before they reached the top. Time provided an opportunity to reclaim the respect they had lost in two losses to unranked, non-conference teams. On September 15, the Terrapin men's soccer rode into the den of one of fiercest lions in the country and did just that.

Before 2,371 people at Virginia's Klockner Stadium, the Terps opened their road and Atlantic Coast Conference schedule by tying second-ranked Virginia, 1-1, in overtime. The defense rose to the occasion, keeping the high-powered Cavalier attack from maintaining a constant presence around the Terp net. Sophomore Judah Cooks made a perfect pass to set up his team's only goal, and had a goal of his own called back on a questionable call.

After a tie at N.C. State, and a win over Mount St. Mary's, the Maryland rollercoaster enjoyed another exhilarating turn when the Terrapins rolled over then-No. 1-ranked Duke, 4-1, at Ludwig Field. Senior Shane Dougherty took care of the offense, scoring a then-career-high two goals, while Leo Cullen anchored the Maryland defense.

A 2-1 overtime loss at then-No. 6-ranked James Madison was sandwiched in among a loss against Wake Forest, and three straight wins against Old Dominion, Richmond and Robert Morris College, respectively. The stomach-turner on the rollercoaster season came in College Park where the Terrapins tied American, 1-1. "There were times we played very well," said Cirovski. "And I think our guys played hard. It was a very hard game."

With two Atlantic Coast Conference games still remaining to close the season, the Terps got precisely what they needed--back-to-back wins over Hartwick (3-0) and Loyola (4-0). The defense played well against Loyola, as it had against Hartwick, the midfield played another solid game, and three goals came from the forward position.

Some of the 3,266 fans who witnessed the Terps' 4-1 victory over then-No. 1-ranked Duke.

A loss at Clemson (1-0) and a home victory over North Carolina (3-1) concluded the '96 regular-season campaign, and gave the Terps the No. 2 seed heading into the ACC Tournament. And this is where fun on the rollercoaster ride began!

Maryland enjoyed its first-ever win in the Conference tournament dating back to 1989 with a 7-0 win over N.C. State in the quarterfinals. Senior Shane Dougherty tied his career-high with two goals with sophomore Pierre Venditti scoring the game-winner. The good vibrations continued in the semifinals as the Terps downed Wake Forest, 5-1. Again, Venditti scored first with Cropley, junior R.T. Moore, Dougherty and junior Mike McIlwain, respectively, each knocking a ball in.

Keith Beach is the Terps' top returning scorer from a year ago.

The stage was set. The climb to the top had been made. And the ride down was filled with a rush of excitement. The second-seeded Terps held the top-seeded, top-ranked and allegedly unbeatable Virginia Cavaliers without a shot for the first 59 minutes, and got second-half goals out of Venditti and Dougherty to defeat UVa, 2-0, in the championship of the ACC Tournament. It was Maryland's first ACC Championship in men's soccer, and ended a 10-year drought for a Maryland men's team to earn a title. It also ended Virginia's run of five straight conference titles and abruptly terminated the Cavs' school-record home unbeaten streak at 34 games. Venditti was named MVP while sophomore Keith Beach and seniors Russell Payne and Dougherty were named to the all-tournament team.

The ride, however, didn't end in Charlottesville. More exhilarating turns and more anticipation led up to the Terps' third consecutive NCAA appearance. Maryland hosted James Madison in hopes to avenge a regular-season 2-1 overtime loss to the Dukes. This time, it was much of the same story, but with the home team coming out the victor. Sophomore midfielder Steve Armas scored at the 98-minute-mark in overtime to lift the Terps to a 2-1 victory. The Terps had yet another hill to climb. This time the road to the top was a bit bumpy with several scary turns. The Terps hosted the third-ranked William & Mary Tribe in the second round. On paper, Maryland dominated the game, outshooting the Tribe, 16-7, but Willliam & Mary scored all three of its goals in the final 17:40 to give the Tribe a 3-0 win over the Terps.

Yes, it was a ride full of scary turns and downswings, but it was also one which featured some fun times and good vibrations. Maryland closed it out with a last rush and when they finished, they couldn't wait to get back in line and do it again.

THE UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND AT COLLEGE PARK

PICTURE a university so comprehensive that if offers degrees in 98 disciplines, so technologically advanced that it manages specially-designed research facilities not found on any other campus in the country and boasts a telecommunications system which serves as a model for universities worldwide. And, at the same time, it is a university concerned enough to include special housing matched to student interests and to ensure that half of all undergraduate classes have fewer than 30 students. That's a snapshot of the University of Maryland at College Park, the flagship institution of Maryland's system of higher education.

Academic Stature: One of only 30 public research universities in the prestigious 58-member Association of American Universities; among fewer than 10 percent of universities invited to join Phi Beta Kappa.

Baccalaureate Choices: Degrees offered in 98 disciplines; pre-professional programs in dental hygiene, dentistry, law, medical technology, medicine, nursing, optometry, osteopathic medicine, pharmacy, physical therapy and pediatric medicine.

Dramatic Moments: Find them in the 1,350 seat Tawes Theater, the stage for major theatrical productions and special events.

Faculty Facts: Full-time, 1,998; part-time 544; student/faculty ratio, 14/1.

Getting There: The MARC train offers public transportation from College Park to Baltimore's Camden Station, next to Orioles Park at Camden Yards and near the Inner Harbor. The highly efficient Metro system puts the Suburban Maryland, District of Columbia and Northern Virginia areas a rapid transit system ride away from College Park.

Ideas: More than 100 active patent disclosures by university inventors are managed by the Office of Technology Liaison.

Journalist's Pick: The College of Journalism was selected as one of two sites in the U.S. for the Hubert H. Humphrey Fellowship Program, and named one of the nations' top communications programs by the Gannett Center for Media Studies.

Library Holdings: Largest academic research library system in Washington metropolitan area. There are 2.8 million volumes in libraries and 4.6 million items on microfilm.

Nationally Noted: A dozen academic departments and programs at College Park are placed in top 10 among U.S. public universities by the National Academy of Sciences.

Neighbors: Campus neighbors include the Library of Congress, the Smithsonian Institutions, the National Institutes of Health, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), the National Science Foundation and the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Research Center. On campus is National Archives II.

U.S. News and World Report Finds: The Department of Computer Science ranks 12th in the nation, beating three Ivy League schools, and the Department of Physics is 13th best, ahead of UCLA and Pennsylvania among others. The Public Relations Graduate Program is the #1 program in the country. The College of Business and Management is considered 14th in student selectivity.

Value Added: College Park is included in the Guide to 101 of the Best Values in Colleges and Universities, published annually by the Center for College Enrollment Studies.

Maryland in statistics compiled by the National Research Council (NRC) ranked 18 of the graduate programs as "strong" or "excellent".

Maryland according to the NRC ranked among the 10 best public universities in Computer Science, Physics, Mathematics, Electrical Engineering, Economics and Oceanography.

Maryland's College of Journalism was ranked by the Gannett Foundation as one of 11 exemplary programs nationally.

Maryland was chosen by Money magazine as one of the 100 "Best Buys" nationally.

Maryland was one of only nine top-ranked honors programs in Ivy League Programs at State School Prices.

Maryland ranked eighth in the nation in number of Fulbright Scholarships awarded (28 in 1994-95).

Maryland is in the top three of non-historically black institutions in number of African Americans receiving bachelor's degrees.

Maryland is second in the U.S. among non-historically black institutions in number of African-American graduates who go on to earn doctorates, according to the National Research Council.

Maryland won the 1996 Boeing award for most outstanding engineering education program in the nation.

1,568 student-athletes named to Scholar Athlete Honor Roll (3.0+ GPA) in last decade.

1995 overall athletic graduation rate, 68%, exceeds overall University graduation rate (66%), and has increased from 55% in 1991 (students entering in 1984-85).

What makes one world-class player better than another? Heart. Desire. And yes, perhaps the shoes. It's no coincidence that three of the last four World Players of the Year wear Diadora shoes.
